

WeDoltNow Delivery - Animated Video Script

This is Bill and he is a busy man who works during the day at a pharmacy and in the evening has to run errands for himself. Because of his busy routine, like the most of us, Bill gets hungry, like really very hungry. So he can either choose from the remaining left over's in his fridge or make a quick meal out of the remaining ketchup packets. But the one thing Bill knows and others don't is about WeDoltNow Delivery.

Yes, WeDoltNow Delivery, an emerging online platform of food, retail and grocery delivery options comprising of thousands of partner outlets to choose from. Through a user friendly mobile and online ordering platform, WeDoltNow Delivery allows you to quickly place your orders from the local outlets within your hometown. All that you need to do is enter your address, select from one of the displayed delivery options and click the 'order' tab.

The best part about WeDoltNow Delivery? You have the option to choose from hundreds of exclusive discounted deals which the outlets of your choice may not offer for walk-in customers.

WeDoltNow Delivery is for your lazy Sundays or for your busy work Mondays or everything in between, so the next time you need something delivered, you know the drill.

If you are a potential investor looking for lucrative investment opportunities, your best bet to realize unlimited potential growth would be to partner up with WeDoltNow Delivery. The current worth of the home delivery industry within the United States is valued at US$ 782.7 billion and the investment which you will make into the business will start thriving immediately, opening up a whole new world of endless possibilities. With mega expansion plans to open up branches across all 50 states of America and globally, WeDoltNow Delivery's vision is to be ranked among the top global delivery businesses.

For grocery, retail or restaurant outlet partners, from a business standpoint, there's a lot that goes into expanding and growing a business. If your customers are the elderly or the disabled or even those who are really busy with their work routines during the holiday season and want to order from your outlet rather than having to walk in and stand in long queues, joining hands with WeDoltNow Delivery should be a no brainer as you could now deliver the products to their doorsteps.

The customer support at WeDoltNow Delivery is topnotch; they know the industry functionalities, the marketing tools, the trends and know where to go and what people want. By partnering up, make your day to day operations a lot easier by not stressing over the delivery end of your business; rather take this opportunity to reflect on your performance and asses how the USP of your business can be further enhanced.